WATERPROOFING EXPERTS

Leverage an experience of over 24 years.

Waterproofing does not only mean dry interiors, but entails protection of entire structures along with all that it embeds. Water is extremely damaging to the life of structures, often reducing its service life by more than 50%. Although waterproofing forms a small part of any project, if neglected can single handedly ruin entire projects. We give water its due respect and ensure it stays away from your structure. With over 24 years of project experience, you can be rest assured you are in safe hands.

The 3 Steps for a Watertight Structure

1.Right System

The choice of system dictates the success against water penetration. It also lays down the financial implications. An improper choice increases the cost of the system either today or as a maintenance cost in the future.

2.Right Materials

The choice of right materials will influence the life of the system as well as costs. With hundreds of products available in the market, it is necessary to have technical experts guide you in your choice of materials.

3.Right Application

This is the most important and often neglected part of any waterproofing. Major faults occur in waterproofing due to improper application & lack of technical supervision.
